HUMBLE ANT WITH HIS COW

EASILY DISPOSSESSES BEES AS CLEVEREST OF INSECT WORLD.

The virtues of the ant are well known to amateur students of natural history, but there has recently been made known a new characteristic that firmly establishes the humble ant as the humble ant as the superior of the "busy little bee." While the bees, with their queen and drones and industrious habits, have been extolled for years, it seems the unassuming little ant has possessed customs which dwarf the industry and ingenuity of the bee.

"Ant cows" have been known to deep scholars in the realms of natural history for some time, but it remained for the department of agriculture to make us all familiar with this striking custom of the ant.

There is a very small member of the animal kingdom commonly referred to as a plant louse. This is the "ant cow." It secretes a sweet liquid of which the ants are very fond and which they collect without injuring the plant lice. And in winter time the ants coolly take these lice into their nests, shelter them throughout the cold months and return them to suitable plants in the spring very much as men are accustomed to feed and shelter cows throughout the winter putting them to pasture when spring arrives.

This is the only way in which ants can be said to injure plants. They enter houses very rapidly and, on the whole, may be said to do no harm of any kind except in so far as they lessen the attractive appearance of the lawn.

On the other hand, it is quite possible that by bringing up from the lower depths sand and earth they may distinctly increase the fertility by forming a top dressing of soil mulch, and at the same time permit better aeration of the earth.

As a whole, ants are declared to be almost harmless, so far as property is concerned. The bureau's bulletin emphasizes the fact that the only harm they do is to render lawns unsightly by their nests. Ants are easy to get rid of.

Where there is only a small area to be covered the simplest method is to drench the nests with boiling water. Another simple remedy is to

KAISER MEETS FREDERICK AT LEMBERG

German kaiser and Austrian commander (baton under arm) at Lemberg, after Russians were driven out.

So grave was the situation about Lemberg before the Teutons drove the Russian forces before them that the German kaiser deemed it advisable to appear on the scene of action in person. The Archduke Frederick was on a similar mission to urge the Austrian troops on. After the evacuation of the city by the Russians the kaiser and the archduke met to felicitate one another on the valor of their men.

THE HOME JOKER.

There's a funny man in Harlem, who is everlastingly handing out jokes, conundrums and other facetiae to his wife, and she stands for him because they are an improvement on everlasting growling, as is the manner of some husbands when they are at home. Sometimes he gets the joke on her, and she doesn't like it so well, but still she submits lest worse follow. The other evening at dinner he suddenly thought of something.

"Oh, I say, Mary," he said, "have you heard the latest Broadway conundrum?"

"No, dear. What is it?" she asked, thinking to encourage him.

"I don't know myself, so I guess I'll go downtown tonight and hear it."

He went, too, but she went with him—New York Sun.

HIS PRECIPITANT.

"How are you, Mr. Gloom?"

"Having as much trouble as a moving picture hero, thank you!" replied J. Fullerton, the prominent pessimist.—Judge.

ALMOST.

North—Faith, an' I never dreamed that was your mistress.

Bridget—Begorra, an' she's grand! She seems more like an equal—Life.
